

Central social hub coffee table While the coffee table is convenient for social items. placing a laptop there may disrupt its primary function and could be at risk of damage from spills or accidents.

The desktop workstation is suitable for a laptop due to its spacious and accessible surface, intended for office supplies and electronics, making it an appropriate

Living room side table The side table is intended for small items like drinks and books. Placing a pillow there is impractical and

Individual lounge chair Placing a pillow on the lounge chair enhances its comfort and aligns with its purpose of providing a comfortable seating option for relaxation or reading.

Desktop workstation The desktop workstation is intended for office supplies and electronics. Placing an umbrella there is impractical and disrupts its primary function.

The shoe platform is suitable for holding an umbrella as it is designed to accommodate items used upon entering a room, making it a convenient and practical

Multi-purpose meeting/dining table The table is currently being used as a meeting space with books and pens, making it unsuitable for placing a teapot due to the potential disruption and risk of spills.

Beverage preparation table The table is specifically designed for beverage preparation and related activities, making it the perfect location for placing a teapot, ensuring convenience and functionality

Versatile resting platform accidental falls during sleep or rest.

Although the bed supports personal electronics, placing an iPad there may risk damage from movement or

Productivity desk The productivity desk is designed for tasks requiring computing and organization, making it an ideal and secure spot for placing an iPad to ensure accessibility and efficiency.

Laundry supply cabinet The cabinet is intended for organizing laundry supplies. Placing a lamp there is impractical and disrupts its primary function, making it unsuitable for this purpose.

Bedside night stand The bedside nightstand is an ideal location for a lamp, providing convenient lighting for reading or other activities while in bed, aligning perfectly with its intended use.

Integrated rest Hub The bedside rest hub is not suitable for a kettle due to the risk of spills and burns, and it disrupts its primary function of supporting items for relaxation and rest.

Multifunctional utility worktable The multifunctional utility worktable is designed to support productivity tasks, making it an ideal and convenient location for a kettle, ensuring accessibility for preparing beverages during work.

Multi-purpose corner dining table While the table is multifunctional, placing a key there could lead to it getting misplaced or cluttering the surface, making it a less ideal spot for such a small

Laundry supply cabinet

Placing the key on the cabinet near the door provides a convenient and secure spot for easy access upon entry or exit, while keeping it safe and organized.